V. Judicial work of the Tribunal

A. Dispute concerning delimitation of the maritime boundary between Bangladesh and Myanmar in the Bay of Bengal (Bangladesh/Myanmar)

24. On 14 December 2009, proceedings were instituted before the Tribunal in relation to the delimitation of the maritime boundary in the Bay of Bengal between Bangladesh and Myanmar (case No. 16 on the list of cases). The dispute concerned the delimitation of the maritime boundary between Bangladesh and Myanmar in the Bay of Bengal with respect to the territorial sea, the exclusive economic zone and the continental shelf within and beyond 200 nautical miles.

25. Pursuant to the order of the President of 28 January 2010 and the order of the Tribunal of 17 March 2010, the time limits for the filing of the pleadings in the case were fixed as follows: 1 July 2010 for the memorial of Bangladesh, 1 December 2010 for the counter-memorial of Myanmar, 15 March 2011 for the reply of Bangladesh and 1 July 2011 for the rejoinder of Myanmar. The pleadings were duly filed within the time limits so prescribed.
26. Both Bangladesh and Myanmar chose Judges ad hoc pursuant to article 17 of the Statute of the Tribunal. Thomas Mensah was chosen as Judge ad hoc by Bangladesh and Bernard Oxman was chosen as Judge ad hoc by Myanmar.

27. The hearing took place in Hamburg from 8 to 24 September 2011, during which the parties presented their oral statements at 15 public sittings. In accordance with article 75, paragraph 2, of the Rules, the parties presented the following final submissions:

On behalf of Bangladesh, at the hearing on 22 September 2011:

[O]n the basis of the facts and arguments set out in our Reply and during these oral proceedings, Bangladesh requests the Tribunal to adjudge and declare that:

(1) The maritime boundary between Bangladesh and Myanmar in the territorial sea shall be that line first agreed between them in 1974 and reaffirmed in 2008. The coordinates for each of the seven points comprising the delimitation are those set forth in our written Submissions in the Memorial and Reply;

(2) From Point 7, the maritime boundary between Bangladesh and Myanmar follows a line with a geodesic azimuth of 215° to the point located at the coordinates set forth in paragraph 2 of the Submissions as set out in the Reply; and

(3) From that point, the maritime boundary between Bangladesh and Myanmar follows the contours of the 200-M limit drawn from Myanmar’s normal baselines to the point located at the coordinates set forth in paragraph 3 of the Submissions as set out in the Reply.

On behalf of Myanmar, at the hearing on 24 September 2011:

Having regard to the facts and law set out in the Counter-Memorial and the Rejoinder, and at the oral hearing, the Republic of the Union of Myanmar requests the Tribunal to adjudge and declare that:

1. The single maritime boundary between Myanmar and Bangladesh runs from point A to point G, as set out in the Rejoinder. […]

2. From point G, the boundary line continues along the equidistance line in a south-west direction following a geodetic azimuth of 231° 37' 50.9" until it reaches the area where the rights of a third State may be affected.

28. The Tribunal delivered its judgment in the case on 14 March 2012. In its judgment, the Tribunal delimited the maritime boundary between the two States in the territorial sea and exclusive economic zone and on the continental shelf.

29. In respect of the delimitation of the territorial sea, the Tribunal found that there was no agreement within the meaning of article 15 of the Convention between the parties. The Tribunal also considered that the evidence submitted by Bangladesh did not prove the existence of a tacit or de facto agreement and found that, in the light of the circumstances of the case, there was no situation of estoppel. The Tribunal further stated that there was no historic title or any other special circumstance in the area to be delimited. It then undertook to delimit the territorial sea by drawing an equidistance line, in application of article 15 of the Convention. In this context, it examined the effect to be given to St. Martin’s Island, which is under the sovereignty of Bangladesh and lies opposite Myanmar’s mainland coast though “located almost as close to Bangladesh’s mainland coast as to the coast of Myanmar” (Judgment, para. 149). The Tribunal concluded “that, in the circumstances of this case, there are no compelling reasons that justify treating St. Martin’s Island as a special circumstance for the purposes of article 15 of the Convention or that prevent the Tribunal from giving the island full effect in drawing the delimitation line of the territorial sea between the Parties” (Judgment, para. 52).

30. With respect to the delimitation of the exclusive economic zone and continental shelf within 200 nautical miles, the Tribunal applied the equidistance/relevant circumstances method, following the three-stage approach developed in the most recent international jurisprudence on the subject. The Tribunal then began by constructing its own provisional equidistance line. It then determined that the cut-off effect produced by the concavity of Bangladesh’s coast constituted a relevant circumstance and decided to adjust the provisional equidistance line for this reason.

31. As for the effect to be given to St. Martin’s Island, the Tribunal stated that “there is no general rule” on the effect to be given to an island in the delimitation of the maritime boundary in the exclusive economic zone and the continental shelf and added: “Each case is unique and requires specific treatment, the ultimate goal being to reach a solution that is equitable” (Judgment, para. 317). In the case before it, the Tribunal considered that giving effect to St. Martin’s Island in the delimitation of the exclusive economic zone and continental shelf would block the seaward projection of Myanmar’s coast. Accordingly, the Tribunal concluded that the island was not a relevant circumstance and gave it no effect in drawing the line delimiting the exclusive economic zone and the continental shelf.

32. The Tribunal then considered the continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles. It first found that it had jurisdiction to delimit the continental shelf in its entirety. It then considered whether in the circumstances of the case it should refrain from exercising that jurisdiction until each party had established the outer limits of the continental shelf pursuant to article 76, paragraph 8, of the Convention, or at least until the Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf had made recommendations to each party. The Tribunal observed that a decision on its part not to exercise its jurisdiction over the dispute relating to the continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles would not only fail to resolve a long-standing dispute but also would not be conducive to the efficient operation of the Convention. In the view of the Tribunal, it would be contrary to the object and purpose of the Convention not to resolve the existing impasse. Inaction by the Commission and the Tribunal, two organs created by the Convention to ensure the effective implementation of its provisions, would leave the parties in a position where they might be unable to benefit fully from their rights over the continental shelf.

33. In the view of the Tribunal, there is a clear distinction between the delimitation of the continental shelf under article 83 and the delineation of its outer limits under article 76. Under article 76, the Commission is assigned the function of making recommendations to coastal States on matters relating to the establishment of the outer limits of the continental shelf, but it does so without prejudice to delimitation of maritime boundaries. Just as the functions of the Commission are without prejudice to the question of delimitation of the continental shelf between States with opposite or adjacent coasts, so the exercise by international courts and tribunals of their jurisdiction regarding the delimitation of maritime boundaries, including that of the continental shelf, is without prejudice to the exercise by the Commission of its functions on matters related to the delineation of the outer limits of the continental shelf.

34. The Tribunal had then to determine whether the parties had entitlements to a continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles. In this connection, it considered the meaning of “natural prolongation” and its interrelation with that of “continental margin” in the application of article 76 of the Convention. After doing so, the Tribunal concluded that the parties had overlapping entitlements to the continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles and it proceeded to delimit that area, stating:

[T]he delimitation method to be employed in the present case for the continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles should not differ from that within 200 [nautical miles]. Accordingly, the equidistance/relevant circumstances method continues to apply for the delimitation of the continental shelf beyond 200 [nautical miles]. (Judgment, para. 455)

35. Upon completing its examination, the Tribunal decided that the adjusted equidistance line would continue in the same direction beyond the 200-nautical-mile limit of Bangladesh until it reached the area where the rights of third States might be affected. It then applied the disproportionality test and came to the conclusion that the adjusted equidistance line did not lead to any significant disproportion in the allocation of maritime areas to the parties relative to the respective lengths of their coasts.

36. The delimitation of the continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles creates a “grey area” resulting from the fact that the line of delimitation is not based strictly on equidistance. It runs beyond the 200-nautical-mile limit off the coast of Bangladesh until it reaches a distance of 200 nautical miles from Myanmar’s coast. Under these circumstances, the Tribunal decided that “in the area beyond Bangladesh’s exclusive economic zone that is within the limits of Myanmar’s exclusive economic zone, the maritime boundary delimits the Parties’ rights with respect to the seabed and subsoil of the continental shelf but does not otherwise limit Myanmar’s rights with respect to the exclusive economic zone, notably those with respect to the superjacent waters” (Judgment, para. 474). Each State must therefore exercise its rights and perform its duties with due regard to the rights and duties of the other. There are many ways in which the parties may ensure the discharge of their obligations in this respect, including, for example, by establishing cooperative arrangements.

B. The M/V “Louisa” Case (Saint Vincent and the Grenadines v. Kingdom of Spain)

37. On 24 November 2010, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines instituted proceedings before the Tribunal against Spain in a dispute concerning the arrest of the M/V Louisa (case No. 18 on the list of cases). The application instituting proceedings included a request for the prescription of provisional measures under article 290, paragraph 1, of the Convention. The Tribunal delivered its order on this request on 23 December 2010.

38. On 12 January 2011, the President issued time limits for the filing of the memorial by Saint Vincent and the Grenadines and the counter-memorial by Spain.
The time limits were extended by a further order dated 28 April 2011, to 10 June 2011 for the memorial and 10 November 2011 for the counter-memorial.

39. By an order dated 30 September 2011, the Tribunal authorized the submission of a reply by Saint Vincent and the Grenadines and a rejoinder by Spain and fixed 11 December 2011 and 11 February 2012, respectively, for the filing of those pleadings.

40. On 4 November 2011, the President issued an order extending once again the time limits for the submission of pleadings in this case. The time limit for the filing of the counter-memorial was extended to 12 December 2011, and those of the reply and the rejoinder to 10 February and 10 April 2012, respectively. The counter-memorial of Spain, the reply of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines and the rejoinder of Spain were duly filed within the extended time limits.

41. On 4 July 2012, the President, after ascertaining the views of the parties, fixed 4 October 2012 as the date for the opening of the hearing.

42. Prior to the opening of the hearing, the Tribunal held initial deliberations on 1 and 2 October 2012.

43. The parties presented their oral statements at 13 public sittings held from 4 to 12 October 2012. In accordance with article 75, paragraph 2, of the Rules, the parties presented the following final submissions:

On behalf of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, at the hearing on 11 October 2012:

The Applicant requests the Tribunal to prescribe the following measures:

(a) declare that the Tribunal has jurisdiction over the Request;
(b) declare that the Request is admissible;

(d) order the Respondent to release the Gemini III and return property seized;
(e) declare that the boarding and detention of the MV Louisa and Gemini III was unlawful;
(f) declare that the detention of Mario Avella, Alba Avella, Geller Sandor and Szuszky Zsolt was unlawful and abused their human rights in violation of the Convention;

4. Szuszky Zsolt: €275,000
5. John B. Foster: €1,000

(k) order reparations to Sage Maritime Scientific Research, Inc. in the amount of $4,755,144 (USD) for damages and an additional amount in the range of $3,500,000-$40,000,000 (USD) for lost business opportunities;

(l) order reparations to Saint Vincent and the Grenadines in the amount of €500,000 for costs and damages to its dignity, integrity, and vessel registration business; and

(m) award reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs associated with this request as established before the Tribunal, of not less than €500,000.

On behalf of Spain, at the hearing on 12 October 2012:

On the grounds set out in the written pleadings and then elaborated in the course of its oral statements, and on any other grounds, the Kingdom of Spain requests the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea to adjudge and declare that:

1. the Application submitted by Saint Vincent and the Grenadines is not admissible and must be dismissed;

2. this honourable Tribunal has no jurisdiction in the case;

3. subsidiarily, the Applicant’s contention that Spain has breached its obligations under the Convention is not well-founded;

4. consequently, each and all of the requests made by the Applicant must be rejected; and

5. the Applicant be ordered to pay the costs incurred by the Respondent in connection with this case, as determined by the Tribunal, but in an amount no less than US$ 500,000.

44. As at 31 December 2012, the reading of the judgment in this case was expected to be delivered in spring 2013.
C. The M/V “Virginia G” Case (Panama/Guinea-Bissau)

45. On 4 July 2011, proceedings were instituted before the Tribunal through the notification of a special agreement in a dispute concerning the vessel Virginia G (case No. 19 on the list of cases).

46. By a letter dated 4 July 2011, the Agent of Panama notified the Tribunal of a special agreement concluded by exchange of notes, dated 29 June and 4 July 2011, between the Republic of Panama and the Republic of Guinea-Bissau, respectively, to submit to the Tribunal a dispute concerning the vessel Virginia G. The case was entered in the list of cases as case No. 19.

47. On 17 August 2011, the President held consultations with the representatives of the Parties to ascertain their views with regard to questions of procedure.

48. By an order dated 18 August 2011, the President fixed 4 January 2012 as the time limit for the filing of the memorial by Panama and 21 May 2012 as the time limit for the filing of the counter-memorial by Guinea-Bissau.

49. On 30 September 2011, the Tribunal adopted an order authorizing the submission of a reply by Panama and a rejoinder by Guinea-Bissau and fixing 21 August and 21 November 2012, respectively, for the filing of those pleadings.

50. Subsequently, by an order dated 23 December 2011, the President extended the time limits for the submission of the memorial and the counter-memorial to 23 January 2012 and 11 June 2012, respectively. The memorial and the counter-memorial were duly filed within the extended time limits.

51. By an order dated 8 August 2012, the President extended the time limits for the filing of the reply and the rejoinder to 28 August 2012 and 28 November 2012, respectively. The reply and the rejoinder were duly filed within the extended time limits.

52. In its counter-memorial, Guinea-Bissau submitted a counter-claim which Panama, in its reply, requested the Tribunal “to dismiss, reject or otherwise refuse”. In addition, Panama requested the Tribunal “to fix an additional date, following the 28 November 2012 deadline for the submission of Guinea-Bissau’s Rejoinder, by which date Panama may submit final submissions in reply only to the sections of Guinea-Bissau’s Rejoinder concerning the counter-claim”.

53. By a letter dated 6 October 2012, the Registrar informed the parties at the request of the President that “[b]efore taking a decision on the possibility for Panama to file an additional pleading restricted to the issue of the counter-claim, the Tribunal has to examine whether the counter-claim raised by Guinea-Bissau is admissible under article 98 of the Rules”. In the same letter, both parties were given the opportunity to submit their observations on this particular question by 19 October 2012. Observations were received from both parties within the time limit.

54. Both Panama and Guinea-Bissau chose judges ad hoc pursuant to article 17 of the Statute. Tullio Treves was chosen as judge ad hoc by Panama and José Manuel Sérulo Correia was chosen as judge ad hoc by Guinea-Bissau.

55. In its order dated 2 November 2012, the Tribunal found that the counter-claim presented by Guinea-Bissau “satisfies the conditions set forth in” and “is admissible under article 98, paragraph 1, of the Rules of the Tribunal”. The Tribunal also authorized “the submission by Panama of an additional pleading relating solely to the counter-claim submitted by Guinea-Bissau” and fixed 21 December 2012 as the time limit for the filing of this pleading. Panama duly filed the additional pleading within this time limit.

D. The “ARA Libertad” Case (Argentina v. Ghana)

56. On 14 November 2012, Argentina filed with the Tribunal a request for the prescription of provisional measures under article 290, paragraph 5, of the Convention in a dispute concerning “the detention by Ghana […] of the warship ‘ARA Fragata Libertad’”. The case was entered into the Tribunal’s list of cases as case No. 20.

57. The ARA Libertad had arrived, on a courtesy visit, in the port of Tema, near Accra, on 1 October 2012. The vessel’s departure from this port, scheduled for 4 October 2012, was prevented by Ghanaian authorities pursuant to a decision of the High Court of Accra taken in connection with a commercial lawsuit. On 30 October 2012, Argentina instituted arbitration proceedings, under annex VII to the Convention, against Ghana concerning the detention of the vessel. In the notification instituting arbitral proceedings, which was notified to Ghana on 30 October 2012, Argentina requested “Ghana to adopt a provisional measure to unconditionally enable the Argentine warship ‘ARA Fragata Libertad’ to be resupplied and to leave the Tema port and the jurisdictional waters of Ghana”.

58. Pending the constitution of the arbitral tribunal and after the time limits of two weeks provided for by article 290, paragraph 5, of the Convention, Argentina, on 14 November 2012, submitted to the Tribunal a request for the prescription of provisional measures.

59. By an order dated 20 November 2012, after having ascertained the views of the parties, the President fixed 29 November 2012 as the date for the opening of the hearing.

60. On 20 November 2012, the President addressed a letter to both parties calling upon them, in conformity with article 90, paragraph 4, of the Rules, “to avoid taking any measures which might hinder any order the Tribunal may make on the Request for provisional measures to have its appropriate effects”.

61. Since the Tribunal did not include upon the bench a judge of the nationality of Ghana, Ghana chose Thomas A. Mensah to sit as judge ad hoc in this case pursuant to article 17 of the Statute of the Tribunal and article 19 of the Rules of the Tribunal.

62. Ghana also filed with the Tribunal a statement in response on 28 November 2012.

63. Prior to the opening of the hearing, the Tribunal held initial deliberations on 28 November 2012.

64. Oral statements were presented at four public sittings held on 29 and 30 November 2012. In accordance with article 75, paragraph 2, of the Rules, the parties presented the following final submissions at the hearing on 30 November 2012:

   On behalf of Argentina:

   For the reasons expressed by Argentina before the Tribunal, pending the constitution of the arbitral tribunal under Annex VII of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, Argentina requests that the Tribunal prescribes the following provisional measure:

that Ghana unconditionally enables the Argentine warship Frigate ARA Libertad to leave the Tema port and the jurisdictional waters of Ghana and to be resupplied to that end.

Equally Argentina requests that the Tribunal rejects all the submissions made by Ghana.

On behalf of Ghana:

[T]he Republic of Ghana requests the Tribunal:

(1) to reject the request for provisional measures filed by Argentina on 14 November 2012; and

(2) to order Argentina to pay all costs incurred by the Republic of Ghana in connection with this request.

65. The Tribunal delivered its order unanimously on 15 December 2012.

66. In its order, the Tribunal held that, “at this stage of the proceedings, the Tribunal does not need to establish definitively the existence of the rights claimed by Argentina and yet, before prescribing provisional measures, the Tribunal must satisfy itself that the provisions invoked by the Applicant appear prima facie to afford a basis on which the jurisdiction of the Annex VII arbitral tribunal might be founded”. In the light of the arguments presented by the parties, the Tribunal considered “that article 32 [of the Convention] affords a basis on which prima facie jurisdiction of the Annex VII arbitral tribunal might be founded;” (Order, para. 66).

67. The Tribunal then examined whether the urgency of the situation requires the prescription of provisional measures. In this context, the Tribunal considered, inter alia, that, “in accordance with general international law, a warship enjoys immunity” (ibid., para. 95) and that “any act which prevents by force a warship from discharging its mission and duties is a source of conflict that may endanger friendly relations among States” (ibid., para. 97).

68. The Tribunal concluded that “under the circumstances of the present case, pursuant to article 290, paragraph 5, of the Convention, the urgency of the situation requires the prescription by the Tribunal of provisional measures that will ensure full compliance with the applicable rules of international law, thus preserving the respective rights of the Parties” (ibid., para. 100).

69. For these reasons, the Tribunal, prescribed, pending a decision by the Annex VII arbitral tribunal, the following provisional measures under article 290, paragraph 5, of the Convention:

Ghana shall forthwith and unconditionally release the frigate ARA Libertad, shall ensure that the frigate ARA Libertad, its Commander and crew are able to leave the port of Tema and the maritime areas under the jurisdiction of Ghana, and shall ensure that the frigate ARA Libertad is resupplied to that end.

70. The Tribunal further decided that Argentina and Ghana should each submit an initial report not later than 22 December 2012 to the Tribunal, and authorized the President to request such information as he might consider appropriate after that date. The Tribunal also decided that each Party should bear its own costs.
71. Each party submitted an initial report on the measures taken within the prescribed time limits. On that basis, the Tribunal was informed that the ARA Libertad had been released and, on 19 December 2012, had left the maritime areas under the jurisdiction of Ghana.
